ABOARD THE C. & O.

En Route to the Old Virginia Home.

Not often in my busy life have I had time to take a vacation, but I am going to do so now, regardless of time or whether school keeps or not. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy and I have worked so long and so incessantly as not only to be dull, but absolutely stupid. Unless the affliction has become chronic I hope to cure it by a visit to the scenes of my childhood and amid fond recollections live over again the happy days when life was one sweet song and caring cares were unknown. So with the wife and little ones nicely stowed away in the magnificent Fast Flying Virginian of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, I am steaming towards the Old Virginia home as fast as wheels can carry me.

We, who are accustomed to rattletrap coaches and bad accommodations on the Knoxville division of the L. & N., can hardly imagine a train as palatial as the one we are on. It is lighted by electricity and heated by steam when necessary, and there is every convenience and comfort known to modern travel. The coaches are veritable palaces on wheels and glisten and sparkle in their magnificence. A dining car is attached, which serves a meal no hotel can discount. The charge is a dollar, which is pretty stiff to a man who sends a semi-weekly, seven-column newspaper a whole year for the same money, but when we go a'catin' we go a'catin' and expenses are lost sight of for a season.

Accidents happen alike in well regulated families as in well managed railroads and it being my luck we encountered a freight wreck near Hanley, W. Va., last night. A car had jumped the track into a culvert and we were detained more than three hours. The ill wind that blew for the railroad company and the freight crew blew good for us, however, in that it gave Mrs. Walton a chance to see for the first time the rugged and picturesque scenery along the upper Kanawha, New and Greenbrier rivers. We awoke just as Kanawha Falls was passed. The water was dashing and splashing, the spray was rising and the sun was peeping over the hills just as they were when we first beheld the spot 30 years ago. But time and money have wrought a wonderful change along the line though and towns and branch roads appear where primitive forests and frowning rocks had held carnival for ages undisturbed. Coal and iron ore abound on every hand and to dig for them has brought a big population to this hitherto almost unoccupied section. The railroad runs just above the rivers and in many cases the bed was heaved out of solid rock in mountain cliffs that rise perpendicular from the raging streams. I built a good deal of the road myself and know the hardships, difficulties and expense that attended its preparation for one of the steepest grades of the country. It didn't look in those days that such a train could ever glide so smoothly and so swiftly through the then wild and weird country. But man and money make a team that overcomes all obstacles and almost work miracles.

The top of the Allegheny Mountains is the dividing line between the Virginias at the point that the C. & O. enters the Old Dominion through a tunnel more than a mile long. As we emerge from it we see again the hills and valleys of the dear old State and breathe the air, which has not been contaminated by assassins nor vitiated by political conspiracies against law and order. It is a relief to get as far as possible from such a state of affairs as the republicans have brought upon Kentucky and I am already enjoying the change. I find the people are much interested in the Georgetown trial and all honest people hope with us to see the guilty get their dues and the last one of the conspirators die the ignominious death they deserve.

Among the old friends aboard the train is Mr. D. A. Shaaban, now of Louisville, but originally of Virginia. He is an extensive railroad contractor and has contracts now in Chicago, Richmond and on the Greenbrier. Many of our readers will remember him as one of the contractors on the Kentucky Central extension. He is the same gentle, mild-mannered "Dad" as of old and with the exception of having worn most of the hair off the summit of his cranium is apparently as young and as handsome as he used to be.

Virginia hasn't been favored with rain as has Kentucky and judging from the appearance of the fields she will have to send us for her corn supply.

The crop along the railroad will be a failure at least as no amount of trouble could now ruin the bubble prospect. It takes a good deal of work under the most favorable circumstances to make much of the land in Virginia yield to the husbandman's demands, but the average citizen is industrious and usually manages to make at least a good living, which he is ever ready to dispense with hearty hospitality. We are at Gordonsville now and these few lines must close to catch the mail to their destination. W. P. W.

The prosecution in the Powers case received a pretty severe jolt when it was "gold bricked" by Fakir Weaver. A blow of this kind always weakens the chances of the Commonwealth, no matter how strong the proof may otherwise be. Kentucky juries as a general rule are sympathetic with the man on trial and any step on the part of the prosecution which has the appearance of unfairness goes a long way toward raising "a reasonable doubt" in their minds. Powers will doubtless get the benefit of this manifest sentiment as far as it can be consistently given, the assassination organs to the contrary notwithstanding. However, nobody wants Powers convicted unless his guilt is clearly shown by truthful evidence, and all good people will rejoice to see Weaver punished for his crime of perjury. By cross examination before he was put on the stand, the attorney sought to have detected him as a fraud, for it is very common in trials of public interest for notoriety seekers of his stripe to report themselves to one side or the other as "casually" passing along just at the opportune moment to see or hear something of importance.

In his testimony at Georgetown, Stephen G. Sharpe named a half dozen or more offices that he had held and said that he could think of no more at the time. All of these offices were bestowed on him by the democracy, but as soon as it ceased to favor him in this respect, he deserted to the enemy. Mr. Sharpe's case, however, is a very common one. Nearly all of the disgruntled democrats in the State have been honored by the party with office, but as soon as this favor ceased, they could no longer stand its frauds and corruption. As long as they were kept in office, no matter by what means, everything was all right, but as soon as they were defeated, no matter how fairly or virtuously was left in the party.

EX-AUDITOR STONE says he is discharged Culton because he stole $1,000, but for certain reasons failed to have him arrested. The people would like to know the reasons of so good a man as Mr. Stone shielding a thief.

THE picture of Powers' counsel in Sunday's Courier Journal only discloses one half of our friend, Judge Denny. This is very appropriate, for one half of Denny in any particular is a plenty.

THE king of Italy has been assassinated and an attempt made to end the reign of the Shah of Persia in the same way. The bad example set by the Kentucky republicans is spreading.

MR. WEAVER is a barber by occupation and of course he had to talk too much.

THE POWERS TRIAL

The following is a resume of the evidence in the Powers case since our last issue: Col. C. C. Mengel, of the 1st regiment, received two "all right" telegrams from Collier Jan. 30, one at 2 and the other at 2:10 P. M. He also received an order from Taylor on Jan. 18, instructing him to hold his regiment in readiness to move and to obey all of Collier's orders and signals.

Capt. S. G. Sharpe admitted that he placed men in the executive buildings after the shooting, to prevent any one from entering. As soon as the shot was fired he rushed to Taylor and volunteered his services and was placed in charge of the building. He armed mountaineers who were there and instructed them to allow no one to enter. He also stated that before the shooting a prominent democrat, whose name he refused to give, told him the democrats had 2,000 men and rifles to use in the contest.

Ex-Auditor S. H. Stone stated that on Dec. 30 last, he discharged Culton from a clerkship in the auditor's office for stealing $1,000. He didn't have him arrested, however, and failed to report the fact to Sweeney, his successor, who employed Culton. In an interview Culton denies the allegation and defies the aligator.

J. L. Harkleroad had seen Goebel with a big roll of money and heard him say he was in the $100,000. This witness has been frequently indicted for illegal liquor traffic.

J. Sam Butler, Taylor's right hand bower, had conferred with no one but Powers about a Western Kentucky army of civil liberty. He was with Taylor until midnight, Jan. 29, and nothing was said about it. This contradicts Powers on that point. He also stated that Powers rebuked Burton for saying the contest should be settled by exploding some cartridges in the right place. Gen. D. R. Collier stated that troops were not called out until after the shooting of Goebel and that there was no previous arrangement about bringing troops to Frankfort except that all bad orders to be in readiness and that the words "all right" by telegraph meant to come. He admitted on cross-examination that guns and ammunition were brought to the capitol grounds before the shooting.

It was proved beyond doubt that G. F. Weaver, who claimed he saw the rifle protruding from Powers window when Goebel was shot, was at Grayson Springs at the time, 130 miles away. Mr. Weaver is under arrest for perjury and will soon be a resident of Frankfort arrayed in a striped suit, he said.

Fred Hines, aged 19, confessed at Fresno, Cal., that he poisoned his father. He says he had been treated badly by him.

Reuben Miller, Powers' room mate and corporation clerk in his office, stated that Powers was not in his office on the afternoon of Jan. 25, when Robert Noah claims to have had numerous conferences with him there, but was in his room sick. He also stated that troops didn't arrive until half an hour after the shooting.

Ben Rowe, the colored porter, corroborated Miller, and, although in reception room all of Jan. 30, knew practically nothing about the shooting or what transpired in Powers' office. He raised the window in Powers' office. Miller and Rowe are members of the民主 colony.

Capt. G. R. Bullock was in Collier's office and heard only one shot. He went out and saw a man crouching behind the fountain, 10 minutes before Goebel was carried out and 30 minutes after shot before soldiers came.

Capt. D. Waicut, in charge of arsenal, heard of shooting at 11:30 and moved soldiers to Capitol 20 minutes later. B. S. Stone, Taylor's stenographer, heard all shots. Taylor came out, asked who was shot, expressed sorrow and ordered out troops.

F. C. Elkins and D. G. Falconer told of conference at a farmer's house about the Vau Meter contest.

Concerning the charge made by Auditor Sam Stone that he stole $1,000 while in his office, W. H. Culton has this to say: "There is not a word of truth in the charges made against me. I was never discharged by Col. Stone and was retained in the auditor's office under Mr. Sweeney till some time in January. During that month, Gov. Taylor arranged with Mr. Sweeney for me to go to the mountains to look after witnesses, and Gov. Taylor and Culp were shot for my salary. I was not struck from the roll of clerks, however, and was never discharged. Stone never paid a cent on my account in his life."

The jury will be taken to Frankfort at conclusion of the evidence to view the place of killing. The trial may last two weeks longer. There will be five speeches on a side and the Georgetown prophets predict a hung jury.

POLITICAL

There are now five gubernatorial candidates in the Kentucky field.

Luke Pryor, former Senator from Alabama, is dead at Athens, aged 81.

The State democratic headquarters will be at Seiglebach's Hotel, Louisville.

Mr. Bryan's speech at the notification meeting will be almost entirely devoted to imperialism.

The "Brownies" will meet at Rufer's Hotel in Louisville on the 15th to take action concerning the coming campaign.

Clairborne county, Tenn., which gave McKinley 1,600 majority, went democratic over 200 the other day. This is a democratic year.

Hon. W. B. Smith spoke at Richmond yesterday for the democratic ticket and will make a number during the campaign. He is the right sort of a democrat.

The democrats of Williamsburg have organized a Bryan and Stevenson club with a large membership. A. Gatlin, W. H. Parker, J. P. Mahan, George P. Johnson and Walker Mason, leading mountain democrats, were the prime movers.

Hon. John W. Yerkes' speech at Auditor Saturday night consisted of a tirade against the existing election law. He said there would be no real political freedom and equality in Kentucky until the Goebel election law has been stricken from the statute books.

Hon. James B. McCreary, State chairman of the Goebel monument fund, received a check this week from Chairman Weaver, of the Louisville committee, amounting to $1,250. This is the largest contribution yet made to the fund, which is assuming enormous proportions.—Richmond Register.

The campaign committee will consist of one member from each congressional district. The State central committee appointed a primary to be held in the 7th district Sep. 29 to determine whether Moody or Trimble shall be the nominee for Congress. The committee informally discussed the election law, but no action was taken.

The elections in North Carolina resulted in a triumph for white supremacy by from 50,000 to 60,000 majority. The constitutional amendment disfranchising the Negro on educational grounds prevailed, the full democratic State ticket was elected and the Legislature is democratic in both branches, precluding the defeat of Senator Butler.

A dispatch from London says: At a republican rally here J. H. Tinsley, of Barbourville, one of the attorneys for the defense in the Powers trial at Georgetown, made an extremely inflammatory speech, denouncing Tom Campbell, the Goebel brothers and the prosecution of the trial by saying that hungry hordes of people were following Tom Campbell and the Goebel brothers to get part of the $100,000 reward fund.

Ex-U. S. Senator Clark, the multi-millionaire mine owner of Montana, before sailing for Europe on the Lusitania, gave $100,000 to the Bryan campaign fund. Besides giving that amount, Mr. Clark has agreed to furnish all the democratic campaign money required in the State of Montana. His friends say he will spend at least $50,000 rather than see the electoral vote of Montana cast for McKinley. "I contributed to the democratic campaign fund because I think the election of Bryan and Stevenson would be a great benefit to the country. The campaign committee will need funds for printing and circulating literature," he said.

It was proved beyond doubt that G. F. Weaver, who claimed he saw the rifle protruding from Powers window when Goebel was shot, was at Grayson Springs at the time, 130 miles away. Mr. Weaver is under arrest for perjury and will soon be a resident of Frankfort arrayed in a striped suit, he said.

Fred Hines, aged 19, confessed at Fresno, Cal., that he poisoned his father. He says he had been treated badly by him.

NEWS NOTES.

The new L. & N. depot at Middleboro, which cost $8,000, was opened for public use yesterday.

Two men were killed and three others wounded in an election fight at Howard's Quarter, Tenn.

More than 9,000,000 gallons of water were pumped from the lake for the use of Chicago last month.

Full returns from 22 counties in East Tennessee show that democratic gains have been made in every county.

Peter Mason, of Bell county, was killed by a stack of lumber falling on him. Joe Beney was seriously injured.

John Martin, of Bellevue, aged 78 years, committed suicide by jumping from the L. & N. bridge at Cincinnati.

An attempt was made in Paris to assassinate the Shah of Persia, but the man was seized before he could fire his pistol.

The dry prairies in North Dakota were set afire by the sun's rays beaming at 105 degrees and much damage was done.

At Sherman, Grant county, Ira Wade, who wanted to kill his wife, was shot to a post by the populace until his energy passions had been subdued.

At Marion, C. C. Wheeler was shot and clubbed to death by a party of showmen, supposed to be the roughriders of Buckskin Bill's Wild West Show.

Gov. Beckham has pardoned Edward Stephens, who got 21 years for killing Jason Miller, of Scott county, while the former was marshal of Midway in January. During that month, Gov. Taylor arranged with Mr. Sweeney for me to go to the mountains to look after witnesses, and Gov. Taylor and Culp were shot for my salary. I was not struck from the roll of clerks, however, and was never discharged. Stone never paid a cent on my account in his life.

All saloon licenses in Louisville expired yesterday. There are 85 applications, or one saloon for every 234 inhabitants. If all are granted the sinking fund will collect $131,000.

An Ohio man, who brought suit for the alienation of his wife's affections, putting his figures at $6,000, was awarded 1 cent. The lady must have gotten her affections at the bargain counter.

Thomas J. Carson, the noted thoroughbred breeder, of Lexington, who went to jail in lieu of the payment of $5,000 for shooting Photographer W. E. Singleton, took the insolvent debtor's oath. He declared on the stand that he had lost $30,000 trying to breed race horses at the Dixiana Stud.

At Osgood, Ind., a Negro jockey was wrapped in a blanket and placed on a roof where the sun shone on him all day in order to reduce his weight 12 pounds by the sweating process. This failing he was buried in a manure pile up to his neck, and came out at the desired light weight in 12 hours' time.

A gilded palace at New York was razed and 54 women and 154 men arrested and taken to the lock up. Many of the women belong to the better class and pass covenant in good society. There was weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth, but the women in more or less society dress were hustled into the patrol wagon.

BRYANT buttons are popular. A few days ago Higgins & McKinney got in some chewing gum with a presidential nominee button on each package. The Bryant are slow to go—only one having been disposed of.

YESTERDAYS are now past due and you must not put off paying them longer, but come at once. S. M. Owens, sheriff.

ALL who can do so will attend the Danville fair, which begins tomorrow. The midway will be one of the many attractions.

AGENT J. S. RICE received orders from headquarters the other day to receive no freight for Tien-Tsin, China.

DEMOCRATS from every section of the country will come to town Monday next, county court day, to hear Attorney General Breckinridge and Hon. R. C. Warren expound democratic doctrine pure and undefiled.

DECLARED INSANE.—Mr. Clay Powell, of the West End, who has been in very bad health for several years, was declared insane and taken to the asylum Saturday by Marshal Arthur Jones and John H. Rout, of Hustonville.

THE Somerst Journal came out Friday with a pretty new head and enlarged in 12 pages. It is as chuck full of news as an egg is of meat and a news paper in all the word implies. Messrs. Hunt and Campbell, we congratulate you.

THE L. J. representative missed the first day of "big" court at Liberty yesterday—something that he had not done for years. This paper's many patrons in good old Casey will have a visit from him soon, and they are requested to either hold their orders or send to him by mail.

TRADED.—Messrs. J. W. Hayden and

ON THE STUMP.

About the country's future, I insist this way to see the land, let the party true the land And thwart this opposition's plan To choose a most unworthy man; Urge your support for one that's fit—And, incidentally, he's it!

—Puck.

Porphory (after missing his twenty-first bird)—I believe the birds are frightened at me.

Cameo-keeper—"They needn't be, sir.

—Chicago Chronicle.

LIFE IS SWEET.

"This world is but a fleeting show."

"And yet there's not a man

"But wants to see as much of the "Performance as he can."

—Philadelphia Press.

DIPLOMACY FOR HOME USE.

"Oh, yes, I always let my girl go just as soon as the summer fair begins."

"Why? Do you prefer to do your own work in hot weather?"

"No, but it gives me an excuse to let my husband know that we can't possibly be visited by any of his people,"—Chicago Tribune.

THE VERY WORST.

"James," she said, sharply, "Don't you hear queer noises? I believe there are burglars in the house!"

"No such good talk!" cried James, after a minute's pause. "That's why I awoke again!"—Philadelphia North American.

HITS DAILY DUTY.

"And they say you drove that rich man to drink?"

"Yes, sir, but I couldn't help it."

"Can't help it! What do you mean?"

"He made me, sir. I was his coachman,"—Harlan Life.

ONE VIEW OF HER.

Business Caller (looking at photograph)—This is a picture of Mrs. Pickering, I suppose?

Pickering—Yes; that's her when she is—getting her picture taken.

—Puck.

HIS LITTLE JOKE.

Mrs. Biggs—I wonder if I can get my dry stuff at the corner drug store?

Mr. Diggs—Sure thing. But in order to get the dry stuff you'll have to have a prescription from a physician.—Chicago Daily News.

AGREED EXACTLY.

The Mistress—Brigid, you must stay until I get another girl.

Brigid—That was my intention.

anyway. I want her to know the kolod or a woman ye are!—Harper's Bazaar.

STARTLING INGREDIENT.

Mr. Newkid—Uncle Thomas has lost his entire fortune in Wall street!

Mrs. Newkid—Oh! the ungrateful wretch! Right after we had named the baby for him!—Puck.

SPEED.

"What? With all your debts you bought no automobile?"

"That's precisely why I bought it.

I had to have some way of escaping

my creditors,"—W. N. Y. World.

MYSTERY OF NATURE.

She—as a rule, big, strong men are good-natured and jolly.

He—Yes; and us a rule, weak little women are pert and saucy!—Chicago Daily News.

THE HANDS WAY.

Aksit—Who is the fellow who is so egregious in discoursing on Jigby's fruits?

Tolit—That's his bosom friend, of course,—Baltimore American.

ALL THE DIFFERENCE.

Hewitt—Don't you believe that a man should practice what he preaches?

Jewett—It depends upon what he preaches.—Town Topics.

THESE ARE EXCEPTIONS.

"It's the little things that count in this world, I tell you."

"Oh, I don't know. Our bookkeeper wedges 225."—Chicago Times-Herald.

CONDONED THE DEFENSE.

"I am a self-made man!" he boasted.

"Oh, well," said a hearer, "we'll forgive you. Only don't do it again!"—X.

Y. World.

HEAVERS CAN NOT BE PURSED.

By local application as they cannot reach the deepened portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, that is by constitutional remedies, which is the best.

There is no grand modality in what the country needs. All

America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the system, and gives you a new vigor, which can be seen in every muscle, nerve and organ of the body every week, tired or ailing you need. It is every bottle guaranteed, only 50 cents. Sold by Penny Drug store.

SPAIN'S GREATEST NEED.

Mr. R. P. Parker, of Barcelona, Spain, said he had to take C. West nerves and caused severe pain in the back of his head, but using

Electric Bitter, American Bitter, Blood and

Bone Bitter, all soon left.

He says the grand modality is what his country needs. All
